

6516207996.txt

For once, just once, try leaving well enough (better, actually) alone. The last thing the market needs is yet another effort of questionable intentions by a government agency to try to decide what is best. Satellite radio will only supplant commercial radio if that is what economic forces dictate by the vote of the wallet.